Educational Explorations™

During the weeks between May 18 - June 28, 2014
Barbara will host an online discussion site where parents can share challenges and successes, problem solve,
and explore ways to build on their child's strengths.

Join in to add your questions and comments.
Further explore ways to build partnerships with educational programs in creating student-centered educational environments.

Cost: $99

Dr. Barbara N. Miller is the hostess for our online conversation. Her experience in regular and special education includes teaching, parent coaching, program coordination, professional writing, and school administration. Barbara will provide a supportive and strategy based approach to our online discussions.

Educational Explorations™ is an independent educational consulting company and a cooperative agency with Portland State University, Portland, OR.
We provide research based parent and teacher-friendly strategies, geared toward student success.
